MOTT.

Cyrus Richmond married, as second wife, 27 March, 1734, at Stonington, Conn., Phebe Mott.

Their son, Sylvester Richmond, born 26 May, or 4 June, 1737 (was 4
June the date that he was baptized, or presented to the Monthly Meeting?), married Jane Bowerman, daughter of Ichabod Bowerman and Lydia Mott.

The parents of these two Mott women is not known. They were likely related, and may have been sisters, aunt and niece, or cousins.

Their first American ancestor was most probably Adam Mott, seeing that two persons of that name came to America about the same time--one in Massachusetts and the other on Long Island. I have been unable to discover from which branch they originated. This is a problem for some future searcher to discover.

Numerous references to these two families appear in The Boston Transcript and the Hartford Times. These occur as query and answer. I have copied a good many of these, in the expectation that they might reveal a clue.

Answer to Query A-334 Boston - Matt. by N.R.F. Jan. 21, 1942

Data on Adam Matt, immigrant, added; his about Adam Matt's emigration to the colonies; they have been made and explained.

John Matt came on the "Defiance" from Cambridgeport to Boston in 1635.

See Matt's lists, p. 99: Adam Matt, 24 yrs. wife Sarah Matt, 21; John, 19; Adam, 12; Jonathan, 4; Elizabeth, 4; Mary, 2. Adam, aged 24, was a tailor; first wife, Sarah, died in England; 2nd wife, the widow Sarah East. She 4 years old Mary of the ship list was prob. her daughter Mary East. Sarah (1st wife) bore Adam several children, including Nathaniel, Jacob, Thomas, & Benjamin, who were Abenaki, and d. in R.I. in 1695. This family lived in Roxbury & Weymouth, Mass.; by 1641 Adam was made a freeman of Portsmouth, R.I., where he d. in 1641. His father, John Matt, had arrived in Plymouth by 1621, & Adam was required to pay towards the old man's support.

A younger Adam Matt came from Cambridgeport (sailing Cambridgeport, Mass., Aug. 1638 (Matt's lists, pp. 98-100); was called "servant" on the ship list. Located in R.I. Among his children were " eldest son Adam," "youngest son Adam," John & Benjamin Matt who moved to Middletown, N.Y. See a good Matt article by N.R.F. in Hartford Times of Nov. 15, 1941, reply to Query A-334. N.R.F.

Answer to Query A-334 N.R.F. Sept. 20, 1941 Matt

I have collected much data on both families, never found any statement that the two Adams were related, although it seemed they must be. Adam Matt of R.I. had another son besides those mentioned; Gershom, d. 1798; mar. Rebecca. If any relationship could be found, it would be by Mr. Harris, who is an authority on the family; he d. several years ago, but his MSS is with the N.Y. Gen. Soc. N.R.F.

Answer to Query 9568 M.C.B. Sept 20, 1941. Mott 9568.

Adam Mott, emigrant, son of John, b. Cambridge, Eng., to America 1635 on "Defence;" marr. — & had children — John, b. 1621; Adam b. 1623, d. 1673, mar. 1647 Mary Lott; Jonathan 1626, Elizabeth 1629. Adam mar. 2nd Widow Sarah Lott and had Jacob, b. 1633, d. 1711, mar. Joanna Slooem; Eleazer.

Is this family connected with the Adam Mott who mar. Hempstead, L.I., 1647, Jane Thulett? M.C.B.

Answer:

In addition to the children listed by M.C.B. there was a son Gershon who mar. Rebecca — and d. 1798. Also probably the younger Adam had a son Gershon also.

Ref. Dr. John Stillwell's Misc. of New York & New Jersey, Vol. 4. Adam Mott of Hempstead, L.I., apparently had three wives, the second being — dau. of William Bowne, emigrant of Connecticut, near Hempstead, L.I. This wife had but one child, Gershon, taken into the home of John (2) Bowne (William II) and treated as a son in this John's will. John Bowne removed to Middletown, and Gershon Mott went also; he was first recorded there when he registered his earmark, 1687. He d. March 3, 1734, leaving only one child, James 1707-1787. Dr. Stillwell gave no proof this Gershon was son of the L.I. Adam, but he concluded this was the relationship.

Biography & History of Saratoga County.

Richmond
(Mott)

Jesse B. Mott, civil engineer, & member of J. B. Mott & Son, of Saratoga Springs, is son of Hon. Samuel J. & Amelia (Wright) Mott, a native of Saratoga town, where he was born Oct. 6, 1834.

The family is descended from French Huguenot stock, and was planted in Long Island at an early day, by emigrants who left their native land to escape religious persecution.

James Mott, great-grandfather of Jesse B., was born on Long Island in 1709, was a Quaker in religion, and after attaining manhood, settled in Dutchess County, where his son, Jesse Mott (grandfather) was born in 1761. Jesse was reared and educated in his native country, but soon after reaching his majority, in 1782, came to Saratoga County, where he lived until he died in 1847 aged 86. Jesse married Amy West, by whom he had nine children, six sons and three daughters, all deceased (1893). Of these sons, Samuel J. Mott (father) was born on the homestead in 1802, married Amelia, daughter of Reuben Wright (born Massachusetts, but came to Saratoga county when a young man. Five children

The following might be additional to what you have.

Abstract of will of John Richmond of Westerly R.I. da. 4/27/1753 and proved May 1753. mentioned wife Priscilla.

Brother Sylvester of Dutchess Co., N.Y. Brother Cyrus of Swago (?) N.Y. dau Mary Richmond at 15. or marriage.

Uncle Stephen Richmond of Richmond, R.I.

(Witnesses: Thomas Potter, George Potter, Stephen Allen).

(Westerly R.I. probate record)

Now we both know that 'Swago' doesn't seem correct.

Should this be Oswego? Perhaps you know.

I have indexed many wills of R.I. people (here at home)
as well as death records, land evidence, cemeteries etc.
I have some little material from Stonington but Phoebe wasn't there. If I can help on any other R.I. problem please let me know. Or if you might have something about Phoebe Matt which would help, - & which wasn't in your query, if you care to let me know, I'll see what I can find.

I note the following: Ebenezer Matt with John Nye witnessed the will of Thomas Jackwaize (who had a wife Hannah) da. 1744 pr 1745 (Westerly R.I. probate Record) Hannah, wife or widow of Thomas Jackwaize died in Stonington - Conn. Hannah's maiden name was Spink
(N. Kingston R.I. family) Her will mentions no Matts.

I have some early records (N. Kingston Matts) if you wish them, but no reference to Stonington or Stonington families.

If you have records of any other Matts or Rhode Islanders or people from Stonington up in NY with them, that might help - any assistance is offered on an exchange of data basis. My interest is in finding out what happened to some of our Rhode Islanders after they removed out of state. At least then we know a bit about their families & where future records may be found.

Sincerely yours

Dear Dr. Beerleigh,

Being a new subscriber to Tree Talks, and as I was fortunate in being able to get Cousin Huntin '65, I just recently saw your query re: Phebe Matt who m. 1734 Cyrus Richmond.

Although I do not have the parents of Phebe Matt. I do have some data which is pertinent. Perhaps you have solved this problem by now & perhaps you already have this material. - but sometimes one little additional point helps so thought I'd send it anyway -

Ref: Hartford Times, Aug 5002 - query WES "Data of Phebe Matt, born Stonington Conn. (Friends Records) mar. 3/27/1734 ^(Westerly R.I.) as his 2nd wife, Cyrus Richmond, born Kingston R.I.

I imagine you have the first marriage of Cyrus.
